

Will Beetles Rid Upland Of Pesky Flies?

By Jenny Kirkpatrick

A small beetle the size of a pin head may be the answer to the fly problem in Upland. This native beetle belonging to the Histerid or Rove family is predator and lives in chicken yards where it eats the fly larvae, thus keeping the fly population down.

That is the opinion of E. J. Dietrick, who has done research on the matter and who has a biological control company that is commercially involved in developing the beetles. Mainly the beetles have been used on chicken ranches and was recently introduced on the RBZ, Inc. ranch on West Arrow highway, where the fly problem has become acute, according to residents.

Dietrick was one of the speakers at a specially called meeting on the fly problem held at city hall last Tuesday. This meeting was the outgrowth of a citizens' group who had appeared at a recent city council meeting with a petition signed by 650 residents who claimed the fly situation in the West Arrow highway and Benson avenue area is very bad.

FLY EXPERTS

Mayor George Gibson appointed Councilmen James Christensen and Max Hawkins to hold the special meeting. Councilman Christensen chaired the special meeting where several experts on flies gave presentations and where Bob Murasko, Ed Lowe, Robert Arlet and Don Secinaro, representing the citizens, were free to ask questions and make comments on the situation.

Dietrick said the beetles were first introduced in Orange County and after six years have been pronounced successful. The idea of cultural, biological and chemical control was born after it was found that pesticides were ineffective over a period of time, said Dietrick. It was simply a matter of the flies developing an immunity to the chemicals and it took more and more to kill them, thus making the matter more and more costly, he added.

EATS EGGS

The little black beetle has an enormous appetite for the larvae of flies. It lives in the manure and eats the eggs before they can become adults. It is the adult fly that becomes the problem, said Dietrick. If the beetle can be introduced on the ranches on a schedule, eventually they will consume all the larvae and eliminate the problem. Some chemicals are used with the beetle method.

One important factor in the use of beetles is to keep the manure on the ranch so the beetles have a suitable environment. A method called stripping or removal of manure on a rotating basis, helps solve this situation. This is preferred to a general clean-out, Dietrick said.

The method is called balance in nature and has been found to be successful in 95 per cent of cases tested.

EXPERIMENT

The introduction of the beetle on the RBZ ranch on West Arrow highway has been undertaken by the company at its own expense, Dietrick told the group.

Bob Prochaska, vector control officer, San Bernardino county, answered questions about fly control and told the group of a survey that has been conducted on the problem in Upland. He said the report will not be released until it has been presented to the County Board of Supervisors in September.

Prochaska said the flies in that area could be coming from orchard areas, backyards and graneries as well as chicken ranches. There are four chicken ranches in the Arrow highway, Benson avenue area and the citizens group claims the flies are coming from these.

COOPERATION

The Vector Control Officer said that inspections on the ranches and farms in the area are made only on complaints, mainly because of the shortage of manpower. He also said he thought the fly matter could be resolved by cooperation rather than enforcement.

In his summary, Councilman Christensen said that fly control was a complex problem that should be constructively solved to everyone's satisfaction. "Inspection is not adequate and more information on the source and control of flies is needed," he added.

It was decided by the group to set up a meeting with Prochaska to view a film on fly control. No date was set by the group.

Funds Needed

Operation Cheer Picnic Set Aug. 24

For the first time in more than two years, "Operation Cheer" is unable to mail boxes to servicemen overseas.

The reason is lack of funds, according to Mrs. Beverly Emmons, packaging chairman.

To remedy the situation, a fund-raising picnic is being scheduled for Aug. 24 at Upland Memorial park. The picnic will begin at noon and will feature food, entertainment and an auction.

Shane Dominic, who is the headliner at the Club 66 in Cucamonga, is lining up an afternoon of professional talent featuring local musical aggregations.

Food for the luncheon will include the "best" of picnic fare and ice cream and soft drinks for a donation.

The auction, tentatively scheduled for later in the afternoon, will contain merchandise donated by stores in the Montclair Plaza. Items include dresses, books, accessories, etc.

Mrs. Gertrude Rucker is in charge of the picnic. Among the professionals who have already volunteered to entertain at the picnic are the La Ray Quintet from the Glendora country club; The Shenanigans from the Red Lion Inn, Pomona; Jerry Ferreri and Alice of Club 66, Cucamonga; The Flame Ltd., a rock group which has appeared frequently in the West End; and Larry Dee from The Kettle in Anaheim. Other groups have indicated their interest.

On the day of the picnic, the Inland Rallye Association of Pomona Valley, a sports car organization, will stage a "Cheer-O-Van" from Pomona Valley Center, leaving at 11 a.m. and noon. The groups will wend their way to Upland Memorial park.

The Rallye organization is composed of both young men and women. Many of the young men have served in Viet Nam and are taking this opportunity to thank the Cheer organization for the packages they received while there, according to Mrs. Emmons.

"The Cheer packages really kept us going," one young man said.

Operation Cheer is a non-profit organization. Interested West End residents meet the third Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m.

Operation Cheer each month mails boxes to more than 350 West End servicemen overseas. Boxes contain such items as first aid cream, cards, lemonade, canned cakes, gum, food of various kinds unobtainable abroad, canned fruit, etc. Birthday cards and gifts are also mailed.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Emmons by calling 982-7001.

Upland's William Walk Appointed As WV Judge

An Upland resident and president of Rotary International was appointed late Friday to the judgeship at West Valley Municipal Court.

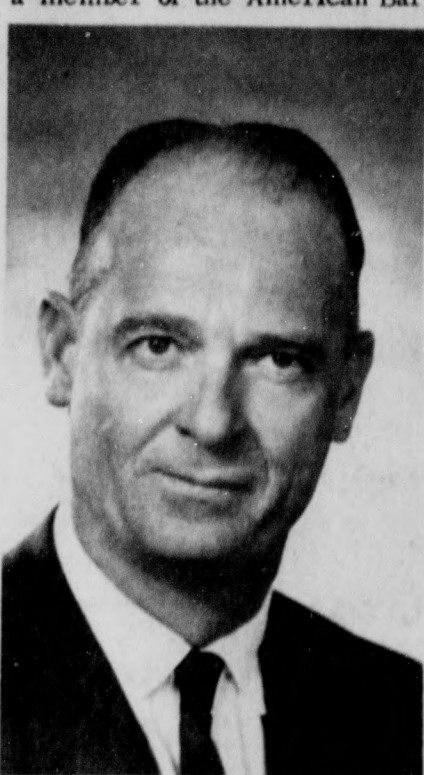

He is attorney William E. Walk who has his law practice in Ontario.

He was notified in a telephone call from Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke. Asked for his reaction to the judicial appointment, Walk said, "I feel it a great honor and privilege for me to serve in this capacity...."

"I would at the same time like to join with all of the officials and members of the San Bernardino Bar Association and the West End Bar Association in expressing the sincere appreciation of the association and the citizens of the West End of San Bernardino County, to Assemblyman John Quimby for his foresight in initiating and sponsoring necessary legislation which established the new court."

"Further, I am equally appreciative of the backing and support that Assemblyman John Briggs and Sen. William Coombs gave this legislation which established the newly-created judicial bench, in the West End of San Bernardino County."

Walk, president of the 600,000-member Rotary International, is a member of the American Bar Association, National Trial Lawyers Association of California, State Bar Association and San Bernardino County Bar Association.

He served 12 years as president of the Ontario-Montclair School District and is a past president of the Western San Bernardino County Bar Association.

Walk's appointment to the municipal court bench expands the court to three divisions. Other judges are Richard C. Garner and Roland C. Rutledge.

Walk and his wife Louise live at 2500 Sierra Dr. in Upland. A daughter Barbara is a high school teacher and their son William E. Walk III is a premedical student at the University of Redlands.

Local judges and other prominent members of the West Bar Association will meet Monday with Walk to form plans for formal opening of the new court.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. at the United Steel Workers of America Union Hall, 9460 Sierra ave., Fontana.

The meeting will be non-partisan, both Democratic and Republican clubs have been extended invitations.

The assemblyman was made aware of the need for such a meeting when a report, sent out by him, got a thousand replies.

Some of the replies received by the assemblyman requested information on various bills before the legislature. In response to this request, there will be copies of Assembly and Senate bills proposed this session in Sacramento. If certain bills are not available at the meeting, there will be assistance to help obtain the information.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Waste Of Money

Recently the Parks and Recreation Committee and the City Council approved the posting of signs in proposed parks or park sites. The reason, they said, was so people may know where the parks will be located.

There are five park sites to be developed, Citrus, 8th st., a site at 11th and Benson, Sierra Vista, 14th st., Pioneer Junior high school, W. 18th st., and a site at 22nd st.

These signs will cost $100 each or $500 for the set. We think this is a useless waste of money when parks are so badly needed in Upland and the money could be used to purchase a piece of playground equipment or a picnic table and benches.

The signs won't last long anyway since vandals have proven in the past that the parks are a favorite place of destruction.

Let's hope the council and committee will reconsider the putting up the signs and save the $500 for equipment or park improvement. Or better yet, spend the $500 on presentations to inform the people so the Park Bond will get approval and parks can be developed.

Thanks again, and looking forward to another season.

Dear Editor:

Regarding the editorial "After Smog" in the issue of Aug. 7, 1969, I have the following comment. Apparently the Monterey-Santa Cruz Co. Unified Air Pollution Control Board has completely missed the point in setting up nitrogen oxide emission standards for industry. The board has restricted the CONCENTRATION to 500 ppm but apparently has set no limit on the FLOW of gas. Therefore all an offender who is emitting above 500 ppm has to do is install a big fan on his stack and dilute his emission with air, while still putting out the same number of POUNDS of nitrogen oxides into the atmosphere.

This is another case of politicians and lawyers acting in the area of air and water pollution, instead of QUALIFIED technical personnel.

The sad part of it is that the public, who cannot be expected to be knowledgeable in these areas, is deluded into thinking air pollution is "solved".

'Scene And Herd' In The West End

by Bill Mason

REMEMBER

Remember when "Hippie" meant big in the hips?
And "Trip" meant travel in cars, planes and ships?
When "Pot" was a vessel for cooking things in?
And "Hooked" was what Grandma's rug might have been?
When "Fix" was verb that meant mend or repair?
And "Be-in" meant simply existing somewhere?
When "Neat" meant well organized, tidy and clean?
And "Grass" was a ground-cover normally green?
When lights, not people, were switched on and off?
And the "Pill" might've been what you took for a cough?
And "Pop" was what the weasel went?
When "Groovy" meant furrowed with channels and hollows?
And "Birds" were winged creatures like robins and swallows?
When "Fuzz" was a substance fluffy like lint?
And "Bread" came from bakeries and not from the mint?
When "Roll" meant a bun and "Rock" was a stone?
And "Hang-up" was something you did to a phone?
When "Chicken" meant poultry and "Bag" was a sack?
And "Junk" trashy cast-offs and old brick-a-brac?
When "Cat" was feline, a kitten grown up?
And "Tea" was a liquid you drank from a cup?
When "Dig" meant to shovel and spade in the dirt?
And "Put-on" was what you did with a shirt?
When "Tough" described meat too unwieldy to chew?
And "Making A Scene" was a rude thing to do?
Words once so sensible, sober and serious,
Are now making like psychedelicious,
It's "Groovy" Man "Groovy," but good English it's not.
And I think that the language has gone straight to "Pot."

ALL ABOUT MONEY

Did you know that a woman's picture at one time appeared on a dollar bill? That there were once three-dollar bills? That money at one time could be eaten? Or that in South Carolina they once had legal tender you could drink?

These are only a few of the many money innovations for which the creators of early currency deserve credit.

That woman's picture, for example, came into view on a one-dollar 1854 bank note from the Delaware City Bank of the Kansas Territory.

In 1856, also in Kansas, there were three-dollar bills! The notes featured pictures of three cherubs!

Salt, valuable as a food preservative, was scarce, durable, portable and easy to divide. Early Roman soldiers, whose Latin word for salt was "sal," received a regular salt allowance (whence our word, "salary"), and African slaves were once sold for their weight in this precious condiment. Thus the expression "worth his salt."

Liquors and other spirits have also served as money; beer was partial wages for miners in 19th century England; a century before, in South Carolina, rum was legal tender!

Tea, a common if blander beverage money, was used for centuries in the Far East. For ease in handling, it was often shaped into bricks.

Tobacco automatically meant money to our southern colonists during the 17th and 18th centuries. In time, tobacco warehouse receipts were used; but originally the actual leaves circulated!

Over the centuries, money has been the subject of memorable quotations. "To have money is a fear; not to have it a grief," said English poet George Herbert in 1651. According to Benjamin Franklin in 1735, "Nothing but money is sweeter than honey."

We are indebted to money for several everyday expressions such as "getting your money's worth," "the root of all evil," "filthy lucre," "money talks," "putting your money where your mouth is," and "putting your two cents in."

What is more, there are local sayings relating to money in different countries with differing monetary units. American counterparts of these terms include "penny pincher" and "dollars to doughnuts."

To coin an expression, banks have become "money-splendored things," but few depositors realize how much banking has changed. In the ancient world, instead of receiving interest on your savings, you'd have had to pay a bank to keep your money safe for you.

A one-bank holding company's main business is banking, but also owns other companies that provide financial services related to banking. For example, they may lease heavy equipment, sell insurance, provide family budgeting advice, tax assistance and charge services for family purchases.

The companies have been formed because antiquated laws have prevented banks from providing new services that their customers need. Not surprisingly, competitors who are not regulated by banking laws have opposed the entry of banks into areas they'd like to keep for themselves.

Outstanding Arts & Crafts

RECREATION OPEN HOUSE

The Recreation Depts. open house craft show at Memorial Park on Thursday was delightful. It is amazing what was accomplished in the classes and the quality of the art work. The paper mache display was outstanding. A realistic Charlie Brown and a giraffe looked professional. Also, seen were soft furry and friendly mice, assorted flowers made of a variety of things and bobbing merrily in ex-tin cans. Plastic pigs with pink ears and tails and numerous fun items. The youngsters who made the things were in the six to 12 year age group and they told me the classes were a lot of fun. They are all looking forward to next year's classes and making something else to take home.

Hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Thursday and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturdays.

HATS OFF

Hats off to Councilman James Christensen for his excellent leadership at the recently held Fly Control Meeting.

This problem has been a recurring and pesky one and has had many tempers soaring. Councilmen Christensen and Hawkins were appointed by the council to handle the matter. They called a meeting and Councilman Christensen chaired it. He let all sides be heard and helped bring all the data into focus without anyone feeling they hadn't had a say. Hats off for a fine job.

Among Ambitions

The Population Reference Bureau makes a point when it tries to put a constructive light on last year's American divorce figures (there were over a million divorces during 1968). The privately funded study group stressed that, not since the boys came home from World War II, had there been so many marriages as there were last year (2.1 million), that the rate of remarriage had risen, and that the percentage of Americans living in family groups had reached 92 percent.

True, there is some comfort in these statistics. They show that the impulse to live in families is at least as strong as ever. And few would argue this isn't a healthy sign.

But neither can anyone argue that there aren't a woeful number of marital false starts. The number of broken marriages involving children rose sharply again last year. And marriage's claim as the rightful preserve of sexuality has been challenged by the doubling of the illegitimate birth rate since 1947.

These facts make us wonder whether, among all mankind's ambitions to conquer its physical and political worlds, there may not yet be room for a rededication to the demands and joys of the hearth. Nothing so reveals the fiber of a people as the happiness and security of its homelife.

Data-Design Election Announced

Data-Design Laboratories (OTC), Cucamonga, has announced the election of Edmund W. Baker as president of its subsidiary, Universal Signal Corporation, replacing Dr. Henry A. Gerardo, who resigned effective July 15.

Thomas C. Beiseker, chairman of Data-Design's board, said Baker has relinquished his position as president of Data-Design Laboratories to accept the position.

According to Beiseker, the action was dictated by the need for Baker's continued full time direction of Universal Signal's program for the signal enhancement device, as outlined in the company's interim report issued last February, to expand and accelerate the effort to apply the proprietary device in product applications.

Data-Design is a designer and manufacturer of electronic countermeasures equipment, communication and training systems and related documentation. The company also manufactures, modifies and services parts and components for the aerospace industry.

Fred Freehling Honored With JCI Senatorship

Fred W. Freehling of Cucamonga, past president of the Pomona Jaycees and an active member over his many years as a Jaycee was named to the Junior Chamber International Tuesday night at the Pomona Jaycees quarterly awards night held at the Mountain Meadows Country Club.

Drew Frohlich, past president of the California Jaycees presented the award. Frohlich made the award by saying that "I am here tonight for an old friend". He went on to say that JCI was formed as an organization for understanding between Jaycees throughout the world, for the Jaycees in the United States, N. Africa, Japan, Australia and throughout the world.

He commented that a JCI Senatorship is one of the highest awards that can be presented to a Jaycee. The award was first presented in 1952 and since that time only 10,000 Jaycees have been honored with the award. That figure represents one-tenth of one per cent of all the Jaycee members throughout the world. In order for the candidate to be honored, the award must have the endorsement of the JCI president, National Jaycee president and be passed upon by the JCI senate.

In accepting the award Freehling said, "I thought that when I watched the two men walk on the moon the other night I had felt the most excitement I would feel for a long time, but tonight I know I was wrong." He thanked presidents before him for helping him get involved, and the board which served under him when he was president.

Ray Ables, an active Jaycee member of the JCI senate, presented the pin and the lifetime membership of the JCI senate to Freehling.

Freehling was the president of the Pomona Jaycees during 1967-68. He has served as first vice president, secretary and director before that time.

Mrs. Quimby Gives Views On Sacramento

Serving in the state legislature during this session was difficult for a Democrat, Gladys Quimby, wife of Assemblyman John Quimby (D-Rialto told the members of the West End Democratic Women's Club at their installation meeting held recently at the library.

She was the installing officer and featured speaker. Her topic was "A Wives Eye View of the Assembly in Session."

The make-up of the legislature is 39 Democrats and 41 Republicans. The Senate has 19 Democrats and 20 Republicans.

She told the women that she was not as active this year in attending the sessions as she was busy overseeing the couples' five children and recovering from an operation, but of what she did get to see she said the going was "rough for progressive, forward looking legislation."

Governor Ronald Reagan runs the show and even some of his people do not agree with him," she said. "The tone of the assembly is conservative and this seems to be in response from the electorate for a quiet year," she added.

"Campus unrest seemed to be the essence of the majority of the legislation and more bills on this subject were introduced than on any other subject. John's position is to use and enforce the riot bills already on the books. We Democrats always get blamed for the riots," she said.

"The governor promised to do something about them and if anything the situation is worse," she added. She went on to say, the governor's tax reform was "no reform at all, and John would not vote for it."

She then told the women a little of what living in the Sacramento area was like and that Assemblyman Quimby would be glad to appear before the club at a future time and bring the women up to date on happenings in Sacramento.

She pointed out that the Democrats would have to work very hard in the coming year. "We'll have to triple our effort just to hang onto what we have. We have to get going and really work hard and it will take each one of you to do it," she concluded.

Not shown are Henry Peterson, first vice president and Irene Nice, corresponding sec.

On July 20, 1969, electric heat was installed on the moon.

It sat smack in the middle of a spot called the Sea of Tranquility.

Although the information is classified, we assume that electric heat was chosen to ride 240,000 miles into outer space aboard the Apollo 11 because it is compact and unbelievably efficient.

After all, only electricity delivers heat that's flameless, odorless and silent.

And since the temperature on the moon can dip to minus 250 degrees on a clear night, you know the most modern and reliable system our best brains could put together, was needed. Repairmen are scarce up there.

Of course, the fact that electric heat costs less to install, doesn't need a chimney or flue and can actually boost the value of your home weren't the reasons for its choice. Our space agency had more to worry about than that.

Actually, the electric heat system our men on the moon used to keep warm is very much like the ones you'll find in millions of apartments and homes right here on Mother Earth.

If you're interested in electric heat or electric cooling, call your local Edison office.

In short order all systems will be go.

Air California has no intention to reduce service between Ontario and San Jose-Oakland and did not request a reduction in that service from the California Public Utilities Commission, Carl A. Benscoter, Air California president, said today.

Tuesday the PUC granted Air California permission to reduce the minimum number of daily round-trip flights from four to two between Hollywood/Burbank and Ontario on the one hand and San Jose and Oakland on the other.

"The PUC's announcement that it had granted our request to reduce service from Hollywood/Burbank and Ontario was misleading, in that it did not clearly state that we only requested relief in the Hollywood/Burbank market," Benscoter said.

"We sought permission to reduce service between Hollywood/Burbank and San Jose-Oakland. However, because our original PUC certificate for that route lists Ontario and Hollywood/Burbank as paired points in Southern California, the PUC, as a technicality, lowered the minimum round-trip requirement for both airports.

"The growth of Air California traffic between Ontario and San Jose-Oakland is highly satisfactory and well within our expectations. In the first seven months of 1969 we have experienced a 32 per cent growth in traffic at Ontario," Benscoter said.

Air California began service between Ontario and San Jose-Oakland on Oct. 27, 1968. Since that time Air California has served more than 100,000 passengers in the Ontario market, he said.

"The reason we asked the PUC to permit a reduction in the minimum number of flights serving the Hollywood/Burbank market is that PSA has, through practices which we believe are in violation of its PUC authorization, engaged in unfair and destructive competition in that market," Benscoter said.

"The commission has scheduled a hearing Aug. 13 on our complaint. However, until the matter is resolved, Air California must realistically set its level of service commensurate with the traffic presently available in the market. The PUC's action Tuesday to reduce the minimum daily round-trip requirement will allow us the immediate flexibility to schedule service to meet the existing demand," Benscoter said.

Brian Locke Completes Course

FT. BENNING, GA. -- Brian Logan Locke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace L. Locke, 338 Merrimac Ct., Upland, has completed the nation's only basic ROTC summer camp.

Conducted for the third consecutive year by the Training Center's 2nd Brigade, the six-week camp has doubled in size since the 1967 camp.

Unique in its concept of providing active-duty training in lieu of two years on-campus study, this camp differs in many aspects from the normal basic training cycle.

No Increase In Fares

SAN FRANCISCO—Air California today asked the California Public Utilities Commission for permission to increase its intrastate fares to cover recent increases in operating costs.

In its application, Air California said the increases have occurred in salaries, property taxes, fuel costs, aircraft landing fees and interest expense. The cost increases have occurred in salaries, property taxes, 1969, will amount to more than $600,000, representing a cost rise of approximately 4.2 per cent, Air California said.

The application asks for fare increases between the Bay Area and Orange County and Hollywood/Burbank airports. No increase was sought between the Bay Area and Ontario.

resigned her post Monday night, effective Aug. 15. The board accepted the resignation "with great regret."

In a letter to board president Paul H. Cushing, Mrs. Hecht said she is resigning because she and her family are moving to Beverly Hills.

"The six years in which I have served as a board member," she wrote, "have provided me with many wonderful experiences and fine associations, all of which I shall long remember and treasure."

"Please convey my best wishes to everyone in the district for success in the upcoming tax election and all future endeavors."

Elected to the board in April, 1963, Mrs. Hecht was seated July 1 of that year and was re-elected April 1967. Her term expires June 30, 1971.

Cushing commended Mrs. Hecht for her outstanding service to the community and told her the school district "has grown large and strong with your assistance."

The audience gave Mrs. Hecht a standing ovation.

Her husband, Joseph H. Hecht, is a prominent Los Angeles business man.

The board met in executive session after the regular meeting to discuss naming a successor.

Cushing said that under the education code it is the board's responsibility to appoint a successor within 30 days after the resignation. Thereafter, the county superintendent of schools is empowered to make the appointment, the board president said.

Cushing said the principal objective of the closed meeting was "to set up the mechanics of the appointment."

Gaily Colored Worm Proves To Be Micro-Snake

Investigation of a large, technicolor worm being belabored by a spunky bluejay on the lawn before his quarters led Maj. John R. Stocker, of Norton Air Force Base, to discover a rare Sonoran Coral Snake visiting the air installation.

The Norton security police chief was returning to his apartment when he noticed the not-too-bright jaybird thrashing about with what appeared either an oversized black, red and yellow worm, or a large hank of bright yarn.

Shooing away the bird, he discovered its prey to be a pencil-sized snake some 16 inches long. Recognizing it--by its coloration--as a member of the coral family, Stocker reached way back into his memory for the boyhood verse which determines the venomous variety:

"Red and black--friend of Jack,
"Red and yellow--KILL the fellow!"

Stocker sent his 12-year-old, John, into the house for his Scout handbook, and verified this was indeed one of the deadliest members. Next day this was confirmed by Griffith Park Zoo in Los Angeles, to whom he presented the reptile. Unfortunately, it had died enroute from injuries sustained in its encounter with the bluejay.

Coral snakes, although viciously poisonous, do not strike as does the rattlesnake, coppermouth or water moccasin, according to TSgt. Robert W. Koch, NCO of the base rescue and survival section, and Norton's herpetologist. Denied fangs, he added, the reptile must bite in chewing fashion in order to inject its venom.

Koch offered further guidance in separating the poisonous from the more compatible members of the coral snake family. The deadly representative has a black head--with a sharply defined yellow or white stripe slashing right across the middle--followed by a broad red stripe. On the friendlier cousins the red and black stripes are together.

Normally the Sonoran Coral Snake is found in Western Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and the northern border states of Mexico.

Upland Water Polo Team Aims For National Meet

UPLAND - For the first time, the Chaffey Union High School District will be represented in the Junior National Water Polo Games - provided the Upland High School Summer Water Polo Team raises the funds to take it to the Aug. 20-22 tournament at Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The AAU competition will be held at Kirkland Air Force Base. The water polo teams will be composed of both high school and/or college-age youths.

Members of the Upland High summer water polo team are Roger Birks, Brian Covert, Rick Coyle, Tom McCarthy, John Simpkins, Tim McCarthy, and Phil Boortz.

Taking the team to Albuquerque will be Ed Cutshall, former Chaffey College water polo All-American who led the nation's junior College water polo scoring. Also to make the trip is Cutshall's assistant, Rick Strack, a graduate of the University of Notre Dame where he captained the swim team.

This summer the UHS team has competed in Los Altos League weekly scrimmages at La Puente and has twice scrimmaged and twice defeated the Redlands team. It also won the novice league games at Chaffey High School.

The team is guaranteed four water polo games at Albuquerque, and winning all four games would advance it to the semi-finals. As there are no Chaffey District funds to finance the team's trip by private cars to Albuquerque, it is appealing to West End Service clubs for contributions. Groups or individuals wishing to contribute to the expense fund may call 982-5607 for full information.

Bicentennial Medallion Finished In Bronze

LOS ANGELES - Lt. Governor Ed Reinecke has announced a change in the finish on the 1 1/2 inch bronze version of the California Bicentennial Medallion issued in honor of the State's 200th birthday.

Originally the medallion, one of four versions now available at banks and savings and loan offices, was issued with a mint finish, like that on a new penny or dime. This has been changed to an oxidized finish, giving it the appearance of an old coin, Reinecke, the Bicentennial Commission chairman, said.

It is expected that the mint finish coin, which will not be struck again, will immediately become a collectors' item.

The change was made to give the coin the same appearance as the other medallions in the series.

The medallions, which have been experiencing heavy sales demand since they were offered to the public on June 16, are cast in two different metals, silver and bronze, and in two sizes, 1 1/2 and 2 1/2 inches. The larger silver and large bronze art medals sell for $35.00 and $5.00 respectively, and the small silver and bronze medals for $10.00 and $2.00 respectively.

Strongest demand, relatively, has been for the $35 silver art medallion, according to A.A. Normandin, director of the medallion sales program for the California State Chamber of Commerce which undertook marketing the medallions on behalf of the Bicentennial.

Only 20,000 of these silver medallions will be minted, after which the mold will be broken. Of the 9,000 already cast, all have been sold or spoken for. The large silver medallion is the only one of the four versions which carries serial numbers, and has already become a collectors' item.

Orders for any of the Official California Bicentennial Medallions may be sent to Official State Medallion Headquarters, P.O. Box 17220, Los Angeles, California 90017. Fifty cents for postage and handling (per medal) should accompany each order.

The medallions, designed by noted California sculptor Tom Van Sant, show the official state symbol, the grizzly bear, on the obverse, in addition to symbolic representations of the state tree, the redwood, and the state flower, the poppy. It is inscribed "California Bicentennial, 1769-1969".

The reverse side shows eight human figures and an abstract montage signifying California commerce and industry. The figures symbolize the eight cultures of California history; a Franciscan Father, a native California Indian, a Mexican va-

iersman, a gold miner, a miner, a farmer and a modern worker. Above the figures is the inscription "The Golden Land".

'Boy Did I Get A Wrong Number' Slated Aug. 20

Equitable Savings and Loan Association will present the comedy motion picture "Boy Did I Get a Wrong Number" on Wednesday, Aug. 20 at 1:30 p.m. at the Pomona Fox Theatre.

This is the third in a series of free "for-women only" movie presentations being presented by Equitable Savings on the third Wednesday of each month. Bob Hope, Phyllis Diller and Elke Sommer star in this hilarious movie. Tickets may be obtained at Equitable Savings, 300

Pomona Mall West, prior to August 20. In addition to this color motion picture, there will be a stage show and free door prizes with Bill Holly, TV personality, acting as emcee.

Bing Crosby 'Cap At Del Mar Track

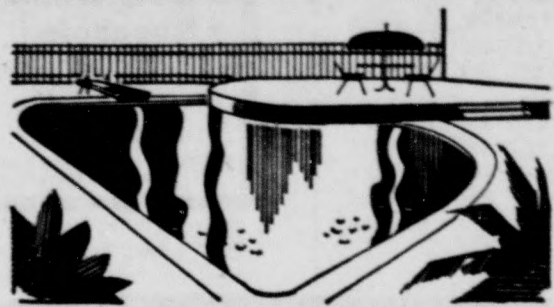

DEL MAR -- Racing fans will see a supreme speed battle in Saturday's 24th running of the $17,500 Bing Crosby Handicap at Del Mar. And thoroughbred aficionados will be intrigued by the three-night Del Mar yearling sales, sponsored by the California Thoroughbred Breeders Association, beginning Sunday evening and going through Tuesday night.

The six furlong Bing Crosby, the summertime sprint championship affair, will bring forth two of the fastest horses in training -- Frank McMahon's Baffle and DeCourcy Graham's Kissin' George. Without a doubt, these two rank one-two nationally in the matter of traversing three quarters of a mile in the quickest possible fashion. So fast are Baffle and Kissin' George the track standard of 1:07 4/5, which was first established as a world record here in 1962 by Crazy Kid and equaled in the Crosby a year ago by Pretense, is in dire peril. Even Zip Pocker's work mark of 1:07 2/5, later set in Phoenix, could be lowered.

Seniors Good Drivers

The results of a nationwide study into the driving records of senior motorists may well catapult the over-65 driver to a respected place on the highway and make his current reputation as a "hazard" a myth of the past.

A report on the accident involvement of the senior driver, released by the University of Denver College of Law, is so favorable to the senior motorist that Judge Sherman G. Finesilver, head of the study team, believes it "will be pivotal in refuting current popular thinking about older drivers".

The study was most comprehensive, since it was based on an examination of the records of the total driver population of each of 30 states and the District of Columbia, instead of on samples, alone, and appears to hold great significance for senior drivers, especially with regard to their insurability, license privileges, and general acceptance as competent motorists.

In the thirty-one jurisdictions for which data were available, senior drivers (persons of age 65 and over) averaged 37 percent fewer accidents than would exist if their proportion of accidents were in exact ratio to their proportion of the driving population.

Although senior drivers represented 7.4 percent of all drivers in the states surveyed, they were involved in only 4.8 percent of all accidents in these states.

Senior drivers averaged lowest of all groups in frequency of injury-producing accidents. The senior driver's involvement in this category of accidents averages 40 percent below his proportionate share of the driving population.

The study has evoked enthusiasm among officials of the Administration on Aging of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, who, together with the University of Denver, sponsored the study. William Bechill hailed the study as "a breakthrough which hopefully will replace discriminatory misconceptions about licensing and insurability of older drivers with objective facts. Judge Finesilver's study should be of primary interest to the country's older population, licensing officials, insurance executives and safety professionals. I hope that it will lead to a cessation of arbitrary practices and attitudes directed to older drivers and ultimately create fairer, more enlightened practices in licensing and insuring of older drivers."

The study further shows that as senior drivers have increased in numbers their involvement rate in accidents have decreased. Senior drivers have the lowest frequency of accident involvement of all age groups.

As a result of these findings, Washington, D.C., has dropped its previous requirement that drivers take mandatory re-examinations upon reaching age 65. The new mandatory re-examination age has been set at 70 years. "Recent Department of Motor Vehicles Research showed that drivers in the 65 and over age bracket have the lowest rate of responsibility for accidents of any age group."

Actually, there are logical reasons for the senior driver being a good, rather than poor, motorist. For example, numerous studies have shown that he is almost error-free with respect to some of the most disastrous driving errors. Speeding, drunk-driving, and "tailgating" are accident producing causes, or errors, of which senior drivers are almost never guilty.

These findings should raise a beacon of hope for curing a profound inequity, namely, the gross under-estimation of the senior driver. His license has been jeopardized, his insurance at times curtailed or adversely affected, and his abilities almost universally questioned. But now it becomes increasingly apparent that the senior driver is not only a good risk, but often may be among the safest motorists on the highway according to this latest study.

THERE GOES HIS TIE - Manager Howard Reed of the Cucamonga TG&Y store smiles even though he is about to lose a part of his tie at the hands of Cindy Patch with those mean-looking snips. It's all part of the TG & Y toy layaway contest now in progress. For each $5 layaway a clerk handles she is entitled to snip off an inch of Reed's shirt, and for each $2 sale, one inch from his tie. The one who cuts the most off of his shirt and his tie win prizes from the manager.

The Farmer's Corner

Is Marketing Power The Answer

By Richard Johnsen Jr.
Executive Vice President, Agricultural Council of California

"The wheel that squeaks the loudest gets the grease . . ." Perhaps — but there have been recurrent loud squeaks in agriculture in recent years regarding market power, withholding, etc., as the cure for the American farmer's shrinking net income, but to date no grease.

Meanwhile, as the wheel has squeaked, some farmers have been doing something about their situation. California's peach growers, for example, have been effectively exerting their efforts to improve their business climate through reasoned, self-help marketing activities. Specifically, they use the California Marketing Act to help themselves.

SURPLUS DIVERSION

Faced with a surplus crop, after exhaustive study the growers of cling peaches recommended through the Joint Cling Peach Advisory Board, with the approval of Director of Agriculture Fielder, the diversion of their surplus production under provisions of the marketing order. They set the surplus diversion requirement at 2.5 per cent and the surplus diversion stabilization fund withhold requirement at 6 per cent. This brought the total elimination through surplus diversion and green drop of the 1969 cling peach crop to 5.25 per cent.

What this means is that growers and processors agreed to not harvest, process or offer for sale over five per cent of this year's cling peach crop — approximately 47,000 tons of peaches. Why? Because the growers and processors both could plainly see that the market could not absorb the entire crop.

Based on actual and projected production and marketing data, the decision was made to eliminate that portion of the crop that would create an unmanageable surplus. As a result, the volume of peaches that will go to market will be realistic, the market will probably remain stable and growers and processors alike will have a better chance of achieving a profitable return for their time, labor and investment.

This reasoned, sophisticated approach to marketing takes place in a number of California's specialty crops. It is a joint effort of growers and processors through a voluntary system adopted in California some 32 years ago when the California Marketing Act became law. Marketing orders differ in their procedures, organization and programs, but all have the objective of trying to help the farmer improve his net income through orderly marketing.

MEASURABLE RESULTS
California farmers are doing something about their problems. Several self-help efforts are utilized, of which marketing orders is one.

Many California growers are pooling their efforts to better their lot without government help except as a mediator, advisor, or in the case of the marketing order, as an administrator. In this respect action takes the lead over the squeaking wheel, and with measurable successful results.

SACRAMENTO — The state legislature sent to Governor Reagan for his signature August 2, legislation by Assemblyman John Quimby (D-Rialto) to permit cities and counties to regulate topless entertainment.

The measure, AB 524, cleared the final legislative hurdle when the Assembly concurred in minor amendments made by the Senate.

"I feel the step taken by the legislature to clarify local government's role in regulating this type of activity without the state intervening," Quimby said, "will enhance home rule to a greater extent than now exists."

Quimby said the League of California Cities and the County Supervisors Association for years have been attempting to reverse the trend of the state regulating activities which should be left to local government.

The bill, Quimby said, is permissive legislation in that it allows cities and counties to regulate "the exposure of the genitals or buttocks of, or the breasts of any person who acts as a waiter, waitress or entertainer."

Quimby said local law enforcement agencies have been unable to control the wearing apparel worn by waitresses and entertainers because of the confusion over what level of government has the authority to regulate such activities.

KEEP IT CLEAN

by Virginia M. White

DEAR MRS. WHITE: I have a scale build-up in my dishwasher. How can this be removed? MRS. D. W.

DEAR D. W.: You may use 1 tablespoon of Super Cleaner in your dishwasher in place of the Jet Dry. This will aid in removing the scale build-up formed due to the minerals in the water supply.

DEAR MRS. WHITE: Babies are cuddly but not with formula stains on their clothes. Can you help? AWAITING.

DEAR AWAITING: Formula stains should be pretreated with a liquid detergent rubbed in to the stain to loosen it. Rinse the detergent thoroughly and launder in very hot water to which add 1/4 cup Miracle White Super Cleaner and 1/2 cup gentle detergent for baby articles such as Dreft.

DEAR MRS. WHITE: How can I remove brown stains from soles of white socks? SOCKLESS.

DEAR SOCKLESS: These stains are caused from leather of shoes and are referred to as tannin stains. Pretreat with glycerin; let stand 1/2 hour; launder in hot water, adding 1/4 cup Super Cleaner, 1/2 cup NON-chlorine bleach, and 1/4 cup laundry detergent.

DEAR MRS. WHITE: I placed a wet dacron blouse on a hanger to dry, now I have rust stains. LOST CAUSE.

DEAR LOST CAUSE: Rust stains caused by metal objects can be removed if pretreated with rust remover product. After treating launder in hot water adding 1/4 cup Super Cleaner, 1/4 cup detergent and 1/4 cup NON-chlorine bleach.

Fluoridation The Answer

LOS ANGELES - Dentists have to fill too many cavities. This keeps them from spending enough time on treatment and diagnosis of other serious oral problems, the dean of the University of Southern California School of Dentistry said recently.

There are about 800 million unfilled cavities in the U.S., and only 100,000 dentists to fill them, according to Dr. John L. Ingle.

"We obviously can never catch up at this rate, because the dentist-to-population ratio is declining while the morass of unfilled dental needs escalates," Dean Ingle said in an interview.

"With the advent of fluoridation of communal water supplies, the future role of the dentist is gradually changing."

"It has been estimated in a report by the dental profession to the California Legislature that if the entire State of California would now fluoridate its water, by the year 2000 — just 30 years away — the citizens would save more than $12 billion in dental fees for fillings alone in that time," the USC educator declared.

"Believe it or not, the profession looks forward to having this $12 billion burden lifted from its shoulders. As dentists, we would like to get out of the filling rut and get on with some of the other oral problems with which we are faced."

Examples cited by the USC School of Dentistry dean include:

More than half the nation's population has severe malocclusion (deformation and displacement of teeth and bone tissues of the mouth), and need orthodontic treatment. Early detection and preventive measures are needed.

One of every five cancers occurs in the mouth, and cancer in the floor of the mouth is nearly 100 percent fatal. Dentists need more time for a massive and constant screening and prevention program in oral cancer.

More than three-fourths of the adult population has some disease of the gums. The profession needs more time to spend on periodontal disease, which is preventable through early detection and education.

"These are reasons why in 1969 we not only have to educate dentists for 1969, but also for the changing world of the year 2000," Dean Ingle declared.

Dean Ingle said that in recognition of the rapidly changing needs of the future, the USC School of Dentistry, now in the midst of a major expansion program, has initiated these new approaches and programs:

The departments of Hospital Dentistry and Community Dentistry are being expanded.

Facilities and faculty are operating on a new tri-semester system, 12 months a year. At the same time, plans are being made to possibly shorten by one year the time it takes to produce orthodontists, oral surgeons, and periodontists, as more specialists are being educated.

The continuing education program for practicing dentists is being accelerated.

A massive expansion of the school's physical plant is under way. Phase one of the expansion, recently completed, added and equipped three stories to the School of Dentistry building, at a cost of more than $4.5 million.

Pines Grow Well In City Gardens

There are gardeners who grow camellias as a hobby, rose fanciers, and fuchsia buffs, all who find enjoyment and beauty in culturing these specialties. But there are also those who grow pinetrees as a hobby. Oftentimes, because of climatic conditions and requirements, it becomes a challenge to grow a particular pine. However, if you would have pines around your home, you can find several choice varieties in the local nurseries and members of the California Association of Nurserymen will have those suited for the area and can assist you in incorporating them in your landscape.

One of the most widely grown pines in city gardens is the native Monterey pine. It is a stately specimen, having radial branches with long needles. Where space permits, a grouping of these makes an appealing landscape sight.

The Japanese Black pine is a moderate grower that has many garden uses. A favorite bonsai subject, this long needed variety may be trained or pruned to achieve interesting effects.

Fairly new on the scene is the Montezuma pine. It has very long needles, which combined with the soft green color adds a desirable texture to the garden. This is a thickly-branched, full tree that has many possibilities. Austrian and Scotch pines are also adaptable — their shrubiness is a definite asset to the landscape.

Annuals Provide Color For Wintertime Gardens

Wintertime color from annuals is something taken for granted by Californians — to the envy of gardeners in colder climates. When Easterners are preparing for a long, hard winter, our winter bedders are bursting forth into a spring-like display.

It is important to plant winter annuals early enough. The idea is to get them in and growing before cold weather arrives and slows down the color process.

There are many color bearers for the winter months. Stocks are one of the cool season's brightest subjects. Snapdragons, too are winter delights. There are also low-growing snapdragons which add to gardening enjoyment.

Iceland poppies are winter standbys. The blooms have crepe-paper texture and are larger in size. The colors have to be seasonal highlights.

Pansies and violas are a cool pair for providing winter bloom as are calendulas and fairy primroses. Plant breeders have introduced newer strains whose colors are brighter and more intense. A case in point is Champagne Bubbles Iceland poppies. These are worth searching for.

Most all the winter bedders are (or soon will be) available at C.A.N. nurseries. Keep abreast of incoming annuals, so that upon their arrival you can immediately get them in the ground preparatory to creating the winter phenomenon of glorious color.

In the eighteenth century, Marie Antoinette complained about the many shapes of handkerchiefs. King Louis, the sixteenth, decreed that the length of the handkerchief shall equal its width throughout the kingdom.

Lipscomb Out Of Hospital

Congressman Glen Lipscomb was released from the Bethesda Naval hospital on Aug. 6. He had undergone surgery at the hospital on July 23. Congressman Lipscomb continues to make good progress in his recovery. It is expected he will remain at his home in Washington, D.C. for several weeks.

Florida Youth Heads Key Club For Kiwanis

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS - July 22, 1969...Reid C. James, 17, a member of the Plantation High School Key Club, Plantation, Fla., was elected President of Key Club International, July 9 in Miami Beach, at the close of the organization's 26th annual convention.

Key Club International is a high school boys' service organization sponsored by Kiwanis International. It performs the same type of service work in the school community that Kiwanis performs in the adult world. There are 3,300 Key Clubs with 93,000 members in the United States, Canada, the Bahamas and Puerto Rico.

The new Key Club leader is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert C. James, 1160 N.W. 70th Terrace, Plantation. He is a former lieutenant governor and governor of the Florida Key Club District.

A senior at Plantation High School, Reid has served as sophomore class president and vice-president of the student council. He also heads the school's Inter-Organizational Council and is a member of the Secretary of State's Florida Youth Advisory Council.

The 2,800 high school men attending the Key Club convention adopted as their theme for the 1969-70 school year, "Understanding: Pathway to Human Dignity."

The Key Club of Narbonne High School, Harbor City, Calif., was honored for initiating and carrying out the top single service project of the year. After months of planning and an energetic drive for $16,000 in funds, the Narbonne Key Clubbers provided 79 needy families in the Los Angeles area with Christmas baskets of food, toys, and clothing. The project eventually involved the majority of the 2,500 students at Narbonne High, who personally made deliveries to the families. Nearly 8,400 man hours of labor were involved in the project.

CALIFORNIA SPEAKS

CARL LANDAUER, Berkeley - "It is our solemn obligation to right past wrongs as best we can, but historic guilt is no good reason to give in to every hair-brained scheme which a self-righteous and self-appointed accuser may bring forth."

EDWARD BRYANT, Darwin - "This leftist (SDS) organization, violators of our campuses, proved at their strife-torn national convention that not only do they not make sense to the rest of the world, they can't even make sense among themselves."

RALPH ECKERT, Ph.D., Long Beach, on sex education - "As one who has helped give authentic knowledge about human sexuality to thousands of children and youth, I can honestly say that the three most difficult to talk with were my own."
